Thanks to the support for thousand people, thanks to the contributions of many, thanks to the hard work of the /e/ core team, we have been able to deliver a great /e/ MVP? (Minimal Viable Product), as a beta, three months ago.

It comes as an installable Android-based ROM that can run most Android apps without Google services, it doesn't have default settings to Google services anymore, it includes a different choice of default applications, it can use an /e/ identity using a simple email address to retrieve data and emails. It provides an online drive that is syncing content from the ROM automatically, it offers a default meta-search engine for the web?
