To the Editor,. As primary races pick up steam across the country, the phrase "Free College" is making headlines, and for good reason.

Open-source textbooks lighten students' financial load [8]

GRCC students are using free, open-source textbooks and saving a total of more than $3 million this year. Students Matthew Grotenhuis and Hunter Crum say the option takes weight off their shoulders financially, and they see it benefiting many of their peers.

Plus, they say the easy-to-use, immediately available digital resources fit in with what they like and need as tech-savvy college students. Open-source textbooks lighten students' financial load
