Dear all,

The vote has ended and the results have been released.

Do we change the project name?

Yes      42

No      225

Regards,

Ish Sookun

The openSUSE project has been considering a name change as part of its move into a separate foundation since (at least) June. A long and somewhat controversial vote of project members has just come to an end, and the result is conclusive: 225-42 against the name change.
