Today we announced (officially) that iFolder code has been pushed out and we have a new iFolder Web site.

So, you can grab the source code from SourceForge immediately. We're working on packages for openSUSE 11.0 and 11.1, and there's work being done to put iFolder into the openSUSE Build Service as well.

Of course, there's lots to be done. The new iFolder site needs some love, and we're working on getting iFolder into the openSUSE Build Service, packaged for openSUSE 11.0 and 11.1 (and later) and generally turning it into a kick-ass project.
