I just finished quake4, and I am playing (again) doom3 on Linux right now. It feels great ? so if anyone wants to say that there are no games on Linux, I could just show the list of some of the games I played this year and found quite impressive:

Nexuiz
OpenArena
Doom3
Quake4
World of Goo (this one actually managed to keep me awake until 5am for a few days)
Caster
Cube

and, besides those, we still have wine which plays most of the games just fine (except some of the bleeding edge ones, and the ones which are hurt by the the-fing-hating-mouse-rotation-bug like call of duty 4).

But.. even with all that progress, I miss the good old games.
