Coding LibreOffice to relax a bit from studying tough mathematical problems? Reed why and how Markus Mohrhard works on LibreOffice!

LibreOffice can only exist since people are working on it: so please ! tell us a bit about yourself.

I'm a third year math student and have always been interested in computer science(which is even a subsidiary subject for me). I'm always interested in anything new in math, physics and computer science and try to learn as much as possible in these areas.

In what other software projects have you been involved?
