There are several reasons that I love using Linux. Ubuntu to be more specific. It's definitely not for everyone, but if you can get by without the latest and greatest games, it's generally a great operating system. Sure, there are some annoyances, but name one operating system that doesn't have any. Want to know some really great things about Linux that make it number one in my book? I'll tell you?

1. Price

Of course the price is great. You simply can't beat free. Many people think, "you get what you pay for", but that's not entirely true. For instance, even most Windows users will say that Mozilla Firefox or Google Chrome are the best browsers out there. How much do you pay for those? That right, they're free. Although these are free, that doesn't mean there aren't some really good developers behind the software.
