If you've chosen one of the major Linux distributions chances are (unless you're a Mint user) you've come across the three big Linux Gui's KDE, Gnome 3 and Unity.

The problem with any post like this is it's an opinion piece, and with out a shadow of a doubt my opinion is probably going to vastly different to a lot of people out there. Linux users can be ferociously protective of not just their choice of distro, but their choice of Desktop as well.
