

some odds & ends:

By srlinuxx

Created 08/10/2013 - 12:59am

Submitted by srlinuxx on Tuesday 8th of October 2013 12:59:00 AM Filed under News [1]

- Intel Core i7 4960X "Ivy Bridge-E" Is A Beauty On Linux [2]
- A Variety of NVIDIA GPUs Power Valve's First Prototype Steam Machines [3]
- Karma Machine: An Example of Ubuntu App Convergence [4]
- How Things Work: Open-source software [5]
- VIDEO: "Shovel Knight" Trailer Wears Its Influences on Its Sleeve [6]
- Arduino boards to run full Linux thanks to TI's new ARM-based chip [7]
- Mozilla's HTML5-Powered Flash Player Is Slowly Making Its Way Into Firefox [8]
- I Didn't Know They Use Open Source! ? Part 3 [9]
- Deathfire: Ruins of Nethermore Gets Gloomy First Screenshots [10]
- Who is the Ubuntu Community Council? [11]
- Scholarship Winner Sarah Kiden Will Use Linux Training to Help Others [12]

News

Source URL: <http://www.tuxmachines.org/node/61543>

Links:

[1] <http://www.tuxmachines.org/taxonomy/term/24>

[2] http://www.phoronix.com/scan.php?page=news_item&px=MTQ3NzU

[3] <http://blogs.nvidia.com/blog/2013/10/04/steam-machines/>

[4] <http://www.jonobacon.org/2013/10/05/karma-machine-an-example-of-ubuntu-app-convergence/>

[5] <http://thetartan.org/2013/10/7/scitech/howthingswork>

[6] <http://www.crunchyroll.com/anime-news/2013/10/05-1/video-shovel-knight-trailer-wears-its-influences-on-its-sleeve>

[7] <http://www.techienews.co.uk/971816/arduino-boards-run-full-linux-thanks-tis-new-arm-based-chip/>

[8] <http://www.lifehacker.com.au/2013/10/mozillas-html5-powered-flash-player-is-slowly-making-its-way-into-firefox/>

[9] <http://www.linuxit.com/blog/bid/316537/I-Didn-t-Know-They-Use-Open-Source-Part-3>

[10] <http://www.gameranx.com/updates/id/17880/article/deathfire-ruins-of-nethermore-gets-gloomy-first-screenshots/>

[11] <http://princessleia.com/journal/?p=8546>

[12] <http://www.linux.com/news/featured-blogs/191-linux-training/741948-scholarship-winner-sarah-kiden-will-use->

