

Free software on Hacker Public Radio

By Roy Schestowitz

Created 30/06/2014 - 9:36am

Submitted by Roy Schestowitz on Monday 30th of June 2014 09:36:56 AM Filed under Interviews [1] HowTos [2]

An advocate for software freedom for more than a decade, O'Brien has written and recorded dozens of tutorial podcasts for people wanting to learn how they can make use of open source software. His long-running series on LibreOffice is quickly approaching a 40-episode milestone. Another series on privacy and security, which helps everyday computers users take advantage of encryption technologies, runs concurrently (one recent episode features O'Brien at a conference giving what else? a talk). Learning new software can make casual users feel lost in a sea of new procedures, techniques, icons, and settings. O'Brien's voice is the lighthouse that keeps them firmly and confidently on course.

[3]

Interviews HowTos

Source URL: <http://www.tuxmachines.org/node/67032>

Links:

[1] <http://www.tuxmachines.org/taxonomy/term/119>

[2] <http://www.tuxmachines.org/taxonomy/term/98>

[3] <http://opensource.com/life/14/6/hacker-public-radio>